MURDER AND SUBSEQUENT EXECUTION IN THE ORIGIN NATION.—We learn from gentlemen recently from the Creek Nation, that about three weeks ago a negro clave (Jim.) belonging to Mr. Watt Grayson, residing at North Fork, C. N., murdered two Creeks—one named Menowa, who had, by order of Mr. Grayson, tied his (the negro s.) brother, whom Mr. G. had sold to a traderfrom Louisiana. Subsequently, by order of several chiefs of the Creek Nation, he was condemned to be executed according to the forms of the Creek law—and, seated on a log, his head covered by a blanket, he received two rifle balls, and fell dead. The executioners were the nearest relatives of the deceased.—Chickasawa Intelligencer.

The New Plano.—Having recently brought before the public a new piano, known as Horace Waters' Plane, which I am willing to have beneath in comparison with any pianos manufactured in the Thied States, I would invite all who may choose to call at my music rooms, S3 Broadway, and examine its merits; and would make the following statement:—Confided with the agency of T. Gilbert & Co.'s Æclian Pianos, forthe city of New York. I brought them extensively before the public, and the result was, that I soon found it impossible to obtain that number fire the manufacturers which was demanded every week. I then instituted a series of experiments and enquiries among the best piano manufacturers in the United States, and at the end of two years I succeeded in getting a piano manu for myself, into the construction of which every improvement which had yet been perfected should be embraced. My strangements are at last complete, and I am new receiving a sufficient supply to answer the extensive demand constantly made upon my establishment. These distributions are constructed on principles of science, and I am willing to sul mit them to the most trying tests. To musicians, I will explain in a few words the principles of their construction. The hass covered strings pass over those of the treble and tenor, to the centre of the sounding board; thus increasing in power that part of the instrument which is most used—the tenor, which is always the most difficult to improve. Another, and a still more important addition, is, that the strings of the upper half of the instrument which is ment used—the tenor, which is always the most difficult to improve. Another, and a still more important addition, is, that the strings of the upper half of the instrument which is most used—the tenor, which is always the most difficult to improve. Another, and a still more important addition, that they constitute the most important improvement that has been given to the piano for many years. The instrument has also a metallic frame, additional bracings and
